

Assessment Centres

Focus on... the people who will really make a difference

Employers of Choice who are serious about their people - are serious about their recruitment. Assessment Centres are the most effective and professional way to provide objective information on true underlying potential. By assessing real behaviour, you are effectively 'test-driving' individuals in the role that you need them to excel in.

Quest Partnership specialise in all aspects of assessment centre delivery, from design and implementation, training your staff to be professional assessors, through to evaluating the positive effect on organisational performance. Centres are designed to simulate real work challenges and can be complimented with other assessments and psychometrics. Candidates are offered a wide, realistic platform to demonstrate their skills and capacity to learn, enabling you to assess their potential more clearly.

We employ the latest research and thinking in assessment centre design, focusing on the real behaviours that will move your organisation forward. Our assessment centres are designed to be practical and user-friendly, ensuring they meet your business needs and drive a professional impression to all. Research shows that high-potential applicants are more likely to accept your offer, if they feel the recruitment process has been stretching, relevant and professional. In the eyes of applicants, your recruitment process is your business.

What we offer:

- Excellence and innovation in design
- Stretching, relevant, professional processes to ensure the best candidates accept your offer of employment
- Professional Assessor training
- Candidate feedback, including development reports for successful recruits
- Bespoke exercise design to reflect your future business needs and vision
- Independent advice on psychometrics
- Resource of trained assessors
- Full compliance with Equal Opportunities and Data Protection Law
- Data archiving and validation of assessment centres to measure impact on business
- Full administration support

The British
Psychological
Society

Chartered Psychologist

Bring People
into Focus

0845 612 7722

admin@questpartnership.co.uk

www.questpartnership.co.uk